

ABSTRACT

A pre-impregnated material including a textile substrate and resin adhered to the textile substrate, the pre-impregnated material being characterized in that the resin has a uniformity of thickness having a variation of less than 5% of its average thickness. Pre-impregnated materials with other properties are also disclosed.